And as follows to wit The said Road shall be Thoroughly Plowed when Ploughing is Practicable and be Thoroughly Cleared of Stone Stumps and roots. The loft soil where it is unsuitable for making a hard and permanent Road must be removed out of the traveled way or may be used in embankment. If at the said places as not to be within twelve inches of the surface of the road when finished where the material within the traveled part of the road is unsuitable for making a hard and durable road and the subsoil under the same is of a loamy or clayey character a top covering of at least eight inches of good gravel or some other good material (the best that can be obtained in the towns whether within or without the location of the road) will be required over the whole width of 18 feet for the traveled part of the road after being properly graded when the subsoil is sand the said traveled part of the road must be uniformly covered over its whole width with a coat of Loam five inches thick, and afterwards with a top covering of eight inches of good gravel or some other good material spread evenly the whole surface; said roads must be judiciously Crowned from the extreme sides of the traveled part thereof to its Centre to the height of 12 inches and the traveled part thereof must be worked to the width of 18 feet exclusive of the side slopes and of the ditches; so that Carriages and Teams may pass each safely and conveniently over any and every part of the 18 feet aforesaid. The said traveled part of the roads must be worked in the centre of and parallel to its location without any regards to the additional widths laid out for Turnouts in Constructing the roads, except near its angles which must be judiciously rounded so as to render it turning as gradual and easy as Practicable, in grading the roads care must be exercised to avoid unnecessary undulations and in no instance can an angle of ascent or descent in the direction of the roads be allowed of greater Magnitude than is hereinafter mentioned. The side ditches where they are needed must be Constructed duly without the traveled part of the roads 18 feet as foresaid, and must be made by sloping from the exterior line of the traveled part of said roads one half foot to one foot at an angle of twenty five degrees or less and one half foot deep to be measured horizontally with the exterior line of the traveled part of said roads; they must be worked parallel with the said line or longitudinal axis of the traveled part of the roads without unnecessary curvatures in their direction and must gradually descend with a smooth even surface in the direction of the roads towards the point of discharge in such a manner that not water can permanently stand by the exterior line on the side of the hill where the road is to be made partly by embankment and partly by excavation the road must be crowned in like manner before mentioned from the edge of the exterior slope of the ditches on the uphill side of the centre and from thence to the exterior or lower side must be made nearly or quite level, where the road is constructed wholly by an embankment The exterior sides of the travelled part must be raised eight inches above the grade thereof, all sides of excavations or an embankment where the materials are of a loamy or adhesive character must be made at an angle not exceeding forty five degrees, where the Materials are loose Gravel or Sands The angle must not exceed Thirty degrees from a Horizontal line or two feet slope to one foot rise, and must be firmly and substantially railed where railing is necessary for the safety and convenience of the travelled with iron bolts to stone posts two feet high above the face of the road, not less than eight inches in diameter and embedded in the earth on embankment not less than three feet, and not more than twelve feet distant from each other from centre to centre; All joinings or splicings of said railing must be made on the summit or top of some one of the stone supports aforesaid by Champering the joining ends of each of said Poles or joists at least one foot in length in such manner that the champered faces will fit and lie close together with the iron bolt aforesaid passing directly through the centre of said joining or splicing; or a stone wall built in a substantial and workmanlike manner two and one half feet high above the face of the roads not less than two feet in thickness at its base and fifteen inches at its top and placed on a good bank Wall, may be substituted for the railing aforesaid. In all places where it is necessary to preserve the road of constructed of earth slopes must be worked sufficiently wide to allow the parts which support said railing to be firmly and permanently placed in the embankment with interior or inside faces not less than three feet within the edge of the slope of the embankment and without in any manner obstructing or interfering with said 3 feet for the travelled part of the roads for the roads must be worked to be ex-cated with the twenty two feet on the top or face of the embankment to furnish a firm support to the railing and the twenty two clear of

Report of the Committee Choosen by the Town at the March meeting to investigate the subject of Fire Apparatus for No Dana

1st we find by actual trial that the force pump at the Factory of Crawford & Tyler is capable of throwing water through four hundred feet of hose and an inch Stream over the Post Office and onto the roof of the Hall House

2d that this pump will furnish water through open hose the entire length of Main st to Mr Haskins House or further possibly. We therefore recomend that the Town buy one Thousand feet of rubber lined hose and a hose Carriage at a cost not exceeding Four hundred dollars provided that the Citizens of North Dana Village will buy a good and suitable hand Fire Engine and equipments to cost about two hundred dollars. That will take the water furnished by the Force pump, and throw it over any buildings in the Village
